 The character of the author, for acuteness and erudition has been established by his essay on miracles in answer to David Hume," the greatest masterpiece of the kind ever published, and by his "Philosophy of Rhetoric," and to the merit of the present work, the result of nearly forty years study and application, and the substance of his course of lectures in his official capacity, the reviewers have given ample testimony, but their account, however honorable to the work, is too long for a place in this advertisement, the work however is now presented in an American edition at not more than half the price of the London copy.

Foreign Intelligence.

From London and other Engliſh papers received by the ſhip Farmer, M'Collom, from London, and other late arrivals.

LONDON, June 4.

Yeſterday ſeveral private letters were received from India, brought over in the American ſhip Major Pinckney, Hyatt, arrived at Dover from Bengal. There were various reports in circulation concerning unpleaſant news from this quarter of the world, which ſeemed to be countenanced by a ſudden fall of India ſtock. It was inſiſted that the ſpirit of mutiny had rather increaſed than diminiſhed among the native troops in India. Although we fear that there is ſome foundation for reports of this nature, we could not learn any preciſe facts on which to form an accurate judgment. No official advices were received.

PARIS, May 24.

The partizans of the conſpirators endeavoured yeſterday to collect ſome ſeditious groupes; they alſo made an attempt to poſſeſs themſelves of a conſiderable national workſhop, but all their efforts have failed of ſucceſs.

At the cloſe of a ſitting of the general ſecret committee of the wood and timber-merchants, firewood roſe from 8 to 10,000 livres. The Louis-d'or was, the day before yeſterday, at 13,000 livres, and yeſterday at 10,000. Sugar has roſe from 500 to 1000 livres per pound; bread from 45 to 100 livres; and candles from 150 to 300 livres.

Iſabeau, Secretary-General in the department for foreign affairs, has been turned out of office by order of the Directory; and we underſtand, that a mandate of arreſt is iſſued againſt him. Boiſhagery and Bonneville, two chiefs of the Chouans, have been killed.

Spain is fitting out 50 ſhips of the line, and Holland 25. The inſurrection is complete in Corſica. Tavera, a member of the Parliament of that Iſland, is at the head of the inſurgents, whom our ſucceſſes in Italy have inſpired with greater boldneſs. They have rendered themſelves maſters of the height of Tichine, in which poſition they interrupt all communication between St. Florenzo and Baſtia. A report is alſo current, that ſeveral magazines have been fired, and that diſturbances have broke out at Nebbio.

The Louis d'Or has got up again to 12,000 livres.

The Spaniſh ambaſſador wiſhed to take a part in the negociations for a treaty of peace with Sardinia; but it was not thought proper to poſtpone the concluſion of that treaty, until he ſhould have received from Madrid the powers neceſſary for that purpoſe.

A courier from Italy has brought the important intelligence, that the tri-coloured flag is flying at Milan, Pavia, Como, and all over Lombardy.

A placard has been poſted up in this metropolis, containing the following lines: "Conſtitution of 1793—Liberty and Equality—and General Happineſs."

The Directory has diſmiſſed the third municipality of Paris, which was compoſed of patriots of 1789.

On Saturday Mr. Shaw (one of the people called Quakers) who has been confined ſome time in Newgate, was brought into court, and arraigned at the bar on a charge of high treaſon.

HAGUE, May 28.

On the 25th inſt. and the following days, the French troops marched into Amſterdam, and all remained quiet in that city. The ſittings of the Convention were very turbulent, on account of this march of the French troops, but all was in vain. General Bournonville has alſo demanded, that ſome French Officer ſhould be appointed Governor of Amſterdam; but this demand has not yet been complied with.

PARIS, June 2.

The Proclamation of Buonaparte, written in the ſtile of Hannibal, and in ſimilar circumſtances, announces to his ſoldiers his march to Rome; and we do not ſee at preſent any circumſtances that can prevent his triumphant march. He is now in the dominions of the Pope, who can only oppoſe prayers to our triumphant armies.

It ſtill is affirmed that we have entered Leghorn.

Extract of a letter from the Commander in Chief, Buonaparte, to the Executive Directory.

Milan, 3d Priarial, (May 22).

"The courier is arrived, Citizen directors, who left Paris on the 26th, with the articles of the glorious Peace that you have concluded with the King of Sardinia, for which I beg you will accept my thanks.

"The troops are ſatisfied.

"I imagine that our army on the Rhine will not permit the Emperor to weaken himſelf too much on that ſide.

"You will find ſubjoined an Addreſs to the army, together with the Suſpenſion of Arms that has been granted to the Duke of Modena.

Letter of the Adjutant-General.

Head Quarters at Milan, 2 Prairial.

"The rapid progreſs I have made for the laſt fortnight, has not left me one moment's leiſure. I have proceeded from Chamberry to Plaiſance, to Pizzig Litono, returned to Chamberry, and in 15 days joined the army at Milan. If my march was rapid, that of the army of Milan was not leſs ſo. It has gained, and is daily gaining, ſucceſſes at which Europe muſt look with conſternation. The battle of Lodi, which was obtained by one of theſe ſtrokes of audacity ſo peculiar to Frenchmen, aſſured us the conqueſt of the whole of the Milaneſe.

"In that country we find immenſe reſources of every kind. Our army which entered Italy, in a very enfeebled condition, is now reſtored, and in the fineſt ſituation. Beaulieu confounded, is incloſed in the marſh of Mantua. We proceed in queſt of him, and ſhall not give him a moment's repoſe. The Auſtriam army muſt be totally deſtroyed. This obſtacle being removed, we ſhall find no difficulty in marching to the Capitol. The entree of the French army into Milan was brilliant in the extreme, the acclamations of the people were prodigious in the extreme; and the inhabitants after flocking to view the victorious troops, ſpent the reſt of the evening in balls, ſuppers, and entertainments. The national cockade was mounted, and a national guard formed to do duty with the troops. Some ruffians attempted to pillage during the tumult, but the moſt dangerous were apprehended. A municipality was formed of the moſt reſpectable citizens, and what is moſt extraordinary a Duke is at their head.

"The army obſerves the ſtricteſt diſcipline. It is ſcarcely obſerved in Milan that the people are in a conquered city, and that in the ſiege of the caſtle the enemy left 2000 men who may be conſidered as loſt."

The following is a liſt of the various magazines, ſtores, &c. which the Auſtrians left behind them at Pavia.

Effects left in the Magazines of Pavia, by the Auſtrians, and taken.

Wheat, 340 ſacks; wheaten flour, 4261 quintals; rye, 4556 ſacks; in flour ditto 1713 quintals; barley, 1730 buſhels; forage, 900 quintals; oats, 17,215 buſhels; ſtraw, 200 quintals; ſtraw beds, 17,552; Indian corn, 23,780 buſhels; flour of do 106 buſhels; Woollen cloth, 13,415 pieces; covers, 22,153; pillows, 2,190; mattraſſes, 1042; firewood to light, 4,273; wool, 150lb. wood to burn, 15,880 meaſures; empty ſacks, 15,470.

A great number of tons of ſhovels, pick-axes, kettles, and other utenſils.

CAMBRIDGE, May 28.

ELECTIONS USELESS!

The amazing increaſe of public ſpirit ſince the diſſolution of Parliament, ſeems to be ſure to contradict this idea. The columns of ſome of the Newſpapers teem with warm expreſſions of concern for the public welfare; and Candidates repeat their ſeptennial ritual with ſo much fervour, that for a moment one really is apt to think them ſerious, while they ſo devoutly talk of "guarding our rights and liberties," "preſerving our conſtitution inviolate, &c. &c.

Yet I repeat—Elections are uſeleſs! and I adduce the following paſſage from the life of Lord Chatham as a proof:

"In March, 1764, Mr. Pelham died—Mr. Fox (afterwards Lord Holland) wiſhed to ſucceed Mr. Pelham as Secretary of State, and it is very probable that his requeſt would have been granted, had he not inſiſted upon having the management of the Houſe of the Commons, which the Duke of Newcaſtle refuſed!

"The management of the Houſe of Commons, (as it is called) is a confidential department unknown to the conſtitution. In the public accounts it is immerſed under the head of Secret Service.

"It is uſually given to the Secretary of State, when that poſt is filled by a Commoner. The buſineſs of the department is to diſtribute, with art and policy, amongſt the members who have no oſtenſible places, ſums of money for their ſupport during the ſeſſion; beſides contracts, Lottery Tickets, and other douceurs, it is no nucommon circumſtance at the end of a ſeſſion, for a gentleman to receive five hundred or a thouſand pounds for his ſervices."

Anecdotes of the Earl of Chatham, Vol. 1, p. 259.

Of what uſe then are Elections? If you elect an honeſt man, his virtue is endangered; if a wiſe man, his voice is not heard? for the voice of wiſdom has but a poor chance againſt all powerful gold—that bright evidence! which, with the velocity of lightening, darts conviction into wavering minds.

What makes all doctrines plain and clear,
About five hundred pounds a-year;
And that, which was prov'd true before.
Prov'd falſe again?—Five hundred more!

For my part, while things are ſo managed, I ſhall not vote at all, though

A FREEHOLDER.

On Wedneſday laſt the Election came on for the city of Norwich, when the Hon. Henry Hobart, and the Right Hon. W. Wyndham, had been nominated, a poll was demanded for Bartlett Gurney, Eſq. at the cloſe of which the numbers were,

For Mr. Hobart	—	1622
Wyndham	—	1159
Gurney	—	1076

When it is conſidered, that only four days elapſed between the arrival of the writ, and the day of election, that the friends of Mr. Gurney had but 24 hours to carry on their canvas, that their reſolution of not procuring votes by threats, promiſes, or rewards, was ſtrictly adhered to; and that the War Miniſter carried his election by dint of Government influence, corruption, and by out-votes, (of the reſident votes, Mr. G. having a majority of 112); Mr. Wyndham has little reaſon to boaſt of his victory over an opponent, who was on a family viſit in the North of England, and was totally ignorant of his nomination.

Mr. W. dreading the effect of that popular indignation which his conduct has excited, prudently forebore expoſing his perſon during the poll, as is cuſtomary on ſuch occaſions. Mr. Gurney was repreſented by his relation, Mr. Hudſon Gurney, who was received by the people at large with every mark of the moſt flattering reſpect.

It is a curious fact, and worthy of notoriety, that a detachment of Norfolk Yeomanry Cavalry, and the band of Norwich butchers, which yeſterday attended Mr. Wyndham in his proceſſion thro' the market-place of the city, were headed by Thomas Havers, Eſq. Steward to the Duke of Norfolk!—The Duke is a member of the Whig Club, and reported to be a friend to Freedom!

Some of thoſe Candidates, who ſat in the late Parliament, and uniformly voted for the continuance of the war, have now, from the terrors of a perſonal conteſt, found it politic to aſſume a pacific note. They are full of expreſſions of heartfelt gratitude for the favours of their conſtituents, and devoted attachment to their intereſts. What weight is to be attached to thoſe profeſſions, their former conduct has ſufficiently evinced. In another Parliament, notwithſtanding all their heart-felt proteſtations, the Miniſter will again command their attendance and their votes.

The Prince of Bouillon, as Commander in Chief of his Majeſty's naval forces at Jerſey and Guernſey, has iſſued a Proclamation, in which, in the name of his Britannic Majeſty, and of Louis XVIII. King of France, he invites all ſuch French Officers and Noblemen, as are able to ſerve, to proceed to Britanny and Normandy, in order to put themſelves at the head of the different corps of Royaliſts aſſembled in thoſe provinces, and other diſtricts in a ſtate of inſurrection!

Friday morning, at three o'clock, Mr. Benſon, of Drury-lane Theatre, threw himſelf from a three pair of ſtairs window at his lodgings in Brydges-ſtreet, and was killed on the ſpot. He had been confined for ſome days to his bed by a fever, and it is ſuppoſed in a fit of delirium, taking advantage of the abſence or inattention of his attendant, effected the above melancholy and ſhocking cataſtrophe.

Lord Kenyon ſtated on Monday at Guild-hall that the hiſtory of the unfortunate Weſton had been ſent to him by a Rev. Dr. of Divinity. That hiſtory was dreadful: Weſton had got upwards of 50,000l. and at different times had loſt 46,000l. at play; 7000l. of which he had loſt in one night at Faro.

LIVERPOOL, May 12.

On Tueſday ſe'nnight the Grand Tunnel or ſubterraneous aqueduct, on the Leeds and Liverpool Canal, at Foulridge, between Coln and Burnley, was opened, when the packet boats and ſeveral of the veſſels belonging to the Leeds and Burnley Union company, a number of Ladies and Gentlemen, attended by a grand band of muſic, paſſed through it, and proceeded down to Burnley, accompanied the whole way by vaſt crowds of people, who expreſſed their great ſatisfaction at this promiſing circumſtance to the commerce of that part of the kingdom, with repeated and loud huzzas. And what adds to this happy circumſtance, one of the veſſels was entirely laden with different kinds of grain.

This great tunnel, which is 1630 yards in length begins about one mile from Colne, and ends at about one mile from Burnley, has been upwards of 5 years in completing, and we may form ſome idea of the expence in making thereof from the circumſtance of one Guinea an Inch having been offered to any company that would undertake it.

The circulating ſpecie in Great Britain has been eſtimated by the moſt accurate calculations, to amount at the utmoſt from 25,000,000l. to 30,000,000l. and bank paper, bankers, and private paper, to about 72,000,000l.

From the Morning Chronicle of May 13.

Mr. Haſtings ſays, that a ſeat in the Houſe of Commons is not an object of his ambition. It is therefore untrue that he is to be a Candidate anywhere.

It was erroneouſly ſtated in the Times a few days ſince, that "Preſident Waſhington would retire on the 4th of November next, and that Mr. Jefferſon would probably ſucceed him."

The term for which the Preſident was choſen does not expire until the 4th of March, 1797, and it is thought more probable that Mr. Jay or Mr. Adams will be his ſucceſſor, unleſs he ſhall chuſe to reſume the high office.

Congreſs have paſſed an act guaranteeing the payment of intereſt on a very conſiderable loan for the purpoſe of completing the buildings for the accommodation of the Preſident and the two branches of the Legiſlature in the Federal City.

The florid ſpeeches of Mr. Pitt, and the uniform folly of his war arrangments, would induce one to think that his friend Mr. Burke had him in his eye when he wrote, "there may be a great deal of eloquence with very little wiſdom."

The Methodiſts have been raiſing money to ſend out miſſionaries to various parts of Africa, to convert the heathen to Chriſtianity. In Europe it is thought beſt to propagate Chriſtianity by fire and ſword.

GAZETTE of the UNITED STATES.

PHILADELPHIA:
MONDAY EVENING, AUGUST 15.

By the arrival of a veſſel at Wilmington, in 42 days from Havre-de-Grace, we have received from a Correſpondent at Paris files of Le Meſſager du Soir and ſeveral other Paris papers, compleat to June 4. Tho' not ſo late as papers before received, they may ſerve to fill up many chaſms in our intelligence from thence. We ſhall occaſionally detail from them ſuch articles as appear to be intereſting.

SUSPENSION OF HOSTILITIES.

We hear that a veſſel is arrived at Baltimore, from London, and has brought papers to June 28, containing accounts of a Ceſſation of Hoſtilities between France and Auſtria; and that Manheim, and ſome other ſtrong poſts were delivered up by the latter as pledges, 'till a peace ſhall be concluded.

BY THIS DAY's MAILS.

NEW-YORK, Auguſt 13.

We learn from the weſtern counties of this ſtate, that the graſs and wheat harveſts have been very abundant; and that they expect to receive caſh for their beef at the weſtern poſts, now in poſſeſſion of the Americans.

Capt. Hubbel, arrived yeſterday, in 18 days from St. Thomas, informs, that on the 12th July, an engagement took place off the iſland of St. Martins, between a French frigate of 44 guns, and two Engliſh ſloops of war, one of 26, and the other of 28 guns; but the Frenchmen beat them off. Shortly after an Engliſh frigate of 32 guns bore down upon her, but a ſquall coming on ſeparated them.

BOSTON, Auguſt 9.

Capt. Felt, arrived yeſterday in 53 days from Cadiz. Admiral Richery with his fleet was ſtill lying there, though the Engliſh fleet had deſiſted from cruizing before the harbour. Admiral Richery, it was ſaid, was waiting for orders from France. The Spaniards were very averſe to any meaſures that might incur a war with England; and were determined to be extremely exact in obſerving their neutral duties, and to avoid the charge of partiality.

Capt. M'Lellan, 8 days from Bermuda, informs us, that the Bermudians are actually quitting the buſineſs of privateering, which they have ſo infamouſly proſecuted to the detriment of our commerce for a long period. Moſt of their privateers are already hauled up, and they diſmantle every one as it arrives. The reaſon of this ſudden change of conduct, is the panic by which they are ſtruck by the news of the reverſal of ſome of their Vice-Amiralty decrees. Reports were current, that writs of attachment had arrived, and were about being executed upon the property of ſome of the principal privateerſmen.

It was ſaid that a fatal epidemic fever raged with violence at the town of Somerſet.

Capt. Cottle has arrived from Martinique, ſince our laſt, in 22 days paſſage. Nothing of material importance had occurred, or was known there. General Abercrombie was ſtill at the iſland. No particular expedition was talked of. The Engliſh at St. Lucia were much annoyed by the runaway blacks, mulattoes and the French who eſcaped to the mountains on the capture of the iſland. They commit continual violences, with almoſt complete impunity, flying to the buſhes after the perpetration of any atrocity. Markets were bad.

SALEM (Maſſ.) Auguſt 9.

Capt. John Barton, from Rochefort, informs, that the celebrated Captain BARNEY, late of Baltimore, has the command of a ſquadron of frigates, eight in number, that were to ſail in a few days from that port on a ſecret expedition, and were to be joined by three more from an adjacent port, It was conjectured the Weſt-Indies was their deſtination. Captain Barney has often declared his anxious deſire of viſiting that "ſeat of infamy," Bermuda; and is may not be a falſe prophecy to predict the long-wiſhed for deſtruction of this place by the above ſquadron; as Captain B. has a few arrearages to pay to ſome of the inhabitants of this iſland.

[Captain John Barton, lately from France, has furniſhed us with a file of French papers for the months of April and May. They are not ſo late by twenty days as ſome we have ſeen, but they contain the following accounts.]

PARIS, April 9.

There is a letter of Gen. Willet to Hoche, printed, which contains the moſt ſevere reproaches againſt that officer for treachery. He ſays, I had nothing to do, but fight. Upon your orders I have accepted their ſubmiſſions, and having ſubmitted, you have ordered them to be arreſted!

The celebrated aſtronomer, De La Lande, has reckoned the inhabitants of our globe at a thouſand millions. Prony fixes the population of France at twenty-five millions, ſix hundred thouſand.

May 25.

A writer obſerves, that of the late conſpiracy in Paris, the adminiſtration had ſhewn every thing but the head. In regard to their own proclamation, that they ſeem bound to ſhew the whole, that the public may do honor to their diſcovery, and may know the greatneſs of their ſalvation.

May 28.

Beaulieu has fled. He inundated all the country, to avoid our purſuits. The inhabitants, whom he has almoſt ruined by this inundation, ſpeak of him with the greateſt reſentment.

FRANKFORT.

We hear from Vienna that the famous Baron de Tauſerer, who had been tried, ſince his recall from the army of Italy, has been ſent a priſoner to Almutz.

ROME.

The holy ſacrament has been brought out, and the bells are all ſounding, the relics are carried round the city, that God might prevent Buonaparte from coming to Rome.

GENOA, May 6.

General Laharpe has publiſhed a proclamation of April 27, addreſſed to the inhabitants of d'Alba, Mondovi and Aqui, by which he directs all the communes who are in favor of republican principles, to give proof of it, by their compliance with the following articles—

1. There ſhall be raiſed in the communes, a tree of liberty, over which ſhall be mounted a red cap. The tri-coloured flag ſhall be diſplayed from the ſteeples, the Cyndic and Counſellors ſhall wear a tri-coloured ſcarf, and all the people a national cockade.

2. The reſident prieſt ſhall make a diſcourſe to his pariſhioners upon the deſire of the French to live in peace with the Piedmonteſe. He ſhall aſſure the people of the free enjoyment of their religion, and of the ſafety of their perſons and property. He ſhall exhort them to conform ſtrictly to the law.

3. No perſon ſhall be obliged to pay to the nobles, or any perſon employed in the government, any contribution under any pretence whatever.

4 Every good citizen and friend of peace, ſhall recal his friends from the ſervice of the enemy.

5. All the communes ſhall communicate this proclamation to each other, and aſſiſt its execution. All who counteract it, ſhall be deemed enemies of the French Republic.

6. The General declares him unworthy of the name of a Frenchman, who ſhall dare to offer the leaſt inſult to the communes who declare for peace.

TURIN, May 22.

General Beaulieu, purſued by the indefatigable Buonaparte, has paſſed the Venetian territory, and we believe he is already upon the entrance of Tyrol. The French General has prepared to ſend to the Directory, 60 paintings of Corregio, Michael Angelo, and other firſt maſters. So formerly Metellus ſent to Rome the pictures and vaſes of Corinth.

A fact characteriſtic of the times.

We learn that the legiſlative body decreed for the 10th of this month, a kind of Te Deum for the national victories, and that this feaſt ſhould be celebrated with the exhibition of a battle. But they were forced to change their plan, becauſe the French ſoldiers would not even act the reſemblance of a retreat. We think this anecdote is ſo ſtriking as to deſerve to be told.

HAGUE, May 15.

It appears that what has been ſaid of the Pruſſian troops in Weſtphalia has been exaggerated. They do not exceed 20,000.

Philadelphia, 26th Thermidor, 4th year of the French Republic.

SIR,

I requeſt you to inſert in one of your earlieſt numbers, the following declaration relative to the occurrences at the Hoſpital of the French Republic in Philadelphia.

This declaration will ſet right a paragraph in the Courier Francais of Philadelphia of the 13th inſt. in which ſome of the facts have been miſrepreſented.

The Miniſter Plenipotentiary of the French Republic.

P. A. ADET.

A paragraph inſerted in the Courier Francais printed at Philadelphia the 13th of Auguſt 1796 (O. S.) places in a falſe light the conduct of the Governor and of the Magiſtrates of Philadelphia, in regard to the attack made on the hoſpital of the French Republic by workmen in the neighbourhood.

Several of the guilty have been taken up, and will no doubt receive the puniſhment they deſerve. His excellency the Governor of Pennſylvania and Mr. Clarkſon Mayor of Philadelphia, under application to them, immediately took the neceſſary meaſures to prevent all diſturbance, and if the means of repreſſing any diſorder that might occur were not oſtenſive, they were, on that account, the more ſure.

The writer of the paragraph alluded to has been miſinformed, and as its appearance in French might lead the public to believe, that it was concerted with the agents of the French Republic, I think it incumbent on me to declare, that far from having experienced a denial of juſtice from the magiſtrates of the State of Pennſylvania, I received from them, upon this occaſion, unequivocal teſtimonies of the moſt ready zeal; and that I have in conſequence returned them officially my thanks, particularly to his Excellency the Governor, who gave himſelf the trouble of perſonally attending on the ſpot.

Philadelphia, 26th Thermidor, 4th year of the French Republic, one and indiviſible.

The Miniſter Plenipotentiary of the French Republic near the United States of North America.

P. A. ADET.

Philadelphia, Auguſt 1, 1796.

GENTLEMEN,

THE Merchants of this city have for ſome time paſt beheld with regret a regulation, enforced by a proclamation of the Governor, obliging every veſſel coming from any part in the Weſt-Indies to perform a quarantine of five days, although the port from which ſhe ſailed may not have had any infectious diſeaſe; and that no perſon on board was at the time of arrival, or at any time during the paſſage, labouring under any ſuch diſorder. The intention of the law which veſted ſo ample a diſcretion in the Governor, was, no doubt, intended to prevent the importation of infectious diſeaſes; and the preſervation of the health of the citizens is of ſo much more importance than any pecuniary loſs or embarraſment of the merchants, that they have ſubmitted to the regulation, however unneceſſary in their opinion, rather than make themſelves reſponſible for the conſequences that might ariſe from any alteration. They always retained the hope, however, that the neceſſity of ſuch a regulation would either have been demonſtrated, or that one leſs injurious to their intereſts, and equally efficacious to the end in view, would be adopted.—But finding the prohibition continued, and not being able to ſatisfy themſelves of its neceſſity, duty to themſelves and to the community, impells them to repreſent—1ſtly, That there are many of the ports in the Weſt-Indies, as healthy and as free from infectious diſeaſes as the city of Philadelphia. 2dly, That where veſſels have been healthy during the paſſage, and continued to be ſo on their arrival, there can be no danger from their being admitted to paſs in the courſe of twenty-four hours, in which time ſatisfactory evidence might be had that no impoſition was intended. 3dly, That the detention of perſons arriving in perfect health, confined to the narrow limits of a veſſel, and impatient to be with their families and friends, is calculated to produce the very end that is intended to be guarded againſt—ſickneſs and diſeaſe. 4thly, That upon every moderate computation, taking one veſſel with another, there will be an actual loſs of at leaſt one hundred dollars; and if the whole number ſhall amount as computed to five hundred, the aggregate will be fifty thouſand dollars, a loſs too great to be ſubmitted to, except it ſhall be juſtified by the neceſſity of the caſe.

While they ſuggeſt theſe alterations to the board of health, it is not their wiſh that they ſhould be adopted without the fulleſt conſideration, and the advice of ſuch Phyſicians as would be competent to adviſe on ſo important a ſubject. If after ſuch conſideration and advice, theſe or any other regulations leſs injurious to them, and equally efficacious in preventing the introduction of infectious diſeaſes, can be adopted, or even the exiſting ones ſhall be determined to be neceſſary, they will reſt ſatisfied.

We have thought it reſpectful, and moſt likely to obtain a candid re-conſideration of the ſubject, to addreſs ourſelves to you; we do it in the fulleſt confidence that you will immediately take it into conſideration, and do therein what ſhall appear to be proper.

"The Board entered into a conſideration of the addreſs from the merchants, relative to an alteration in the regulations reſpecting quarantine; and after mature deliberation, came to the following reſolution:"

"Reſolved, as the opinion of the Board, that they cannot conſiſtently with the duty they owe their fellow-citizens, recommend to the Governor any alteration in the exiſting quarantine."

Extract from the minutes.

Health-Office, Auguſt 4, 1796.

SIR,

THE Inſpectors of the Health Office of the port of Philadelphia, acknowledge the receipt of the addreſs from ſundry reſpectable merchants of this city. Whilſt they regret the expence occaſioned by the quarantine indiſcriminately laid on all veſſels from the Weſt Indies, &c. (as expreſſed in the Governor's Proclamation) they cannot conſiſtently with the duties of their appointment, and the regard they owe the health of their fellow citizens, recommend a partial exemption of veſſels implicated therein.

We tranſmit you a copy of the reſolution of this board on the ſubject, to be laid before the ſubſcribers to ſaid addreſs.

Signed by order of the Board.

Meſſrs. PRINTERS,

I requeſt the favor of your inſerting the copy of a letter received at this garriſon from Fort Oſwego, for the better information of thoſe who queſtion ſtill whether the Britiſh will ſurrender the Poſts,

With reſpect I am,

Gentlemen,

Your moſt obedient Servant,

LEWIS TOUSARD,
Major of the 2d battalion of Artilleriſts and Engineers.

Fort Ontario or Oſwego, July 16, 1796.

'Twas not 'till the 14th inſt. that we entered this fort. Capt. Thomas Clarke who commanded here, had left it ſome hours before we arrived. Lieut Elmer, on account of ſome buſineſs had paſſed the preceding day and night in the fort.

Immediately after we entered the fort, we announced it to every body and thing within hearing, by the diſcharge of 15 cannon, and by diſplaying the American colours. We are all here at length, having waited ſix days at Oſwego Falls for Capt. Clarke to take away ſome of his Majeſty's ſtores, for which purpoſe a Kingſton veſſel had been hourly expected. We find the gardens left in good order, containing large quantities of vegetables. In ſhort, Capt. Clarke's whole conduct has been that of prudence, politeneſs and benevolence. He has diſtributed among our officers two ſheep, a bear, a deer, ſeveral cats, and ſnow-ſhoes. We find a plenty of tables, ſome chairs and other valuable articles. The fort is ſituated on a high and commanding ground, near, and in full view of the grand lake Ontario. Lieut. Rowan, and Doctor Rhodes remain here. The fort is a regular pentagon, with five baſtions, and accommodations for 300 men, beſides ſtore-houſes, ſtables, &c. The whole would make a moſt handſome appearance, if the works were not old and in a ſtate of decay.

CONCORD, (N. H.) Auguſt 2.

On Sunday before laſt, the barn of Mr. Jonathan Courſer, of Boſcawen, was burnt by lightning, containing about 40 tons of hay; it is worthy imitation, and with pleaſure we mention, that the philanthropic inhabitants had, on Thurſday laſt, almoſt completed a new barn for Mr. Courſer, 32 by 60, from timber which was ſtanding the morning after the fire—in addition, they have ſubſcribed graſs to make up his deficiency of hay—this conduct is admirable—this is GODLIKE!

N. B. To favour those who may take a quantity of Tickets, the prize of 40,000 dollars will be the LAST drawn ticket, and the 39,000 the LAST but ONE:

And approved notes, securing payment in either money or prizes, in ten days after drawing, will be received for any number not less than 30 tickets.

This Lottery will afford an elegant specimen of the private buildings to be erected in the City of Washington—Two beautiful designs are already selected for the entire fronts on two of the public squares; from these prawings it is proposed to erect two centre and four corner buildings, as soon as possible after this lottery is sold, and to convey them, when complete, to the fortunate adventurers, in the manner described in the scheme for the Hotel Lottery. A nett deduction of five per cent. will be made to defray the necessary expenses of printing, &c. and the surplus will be made a part of the fund intended for the National University, to be erected within the city of Washington.

The Drawing will commence as soon as the tickets are sold off.—The money prizes will be payable in thirty days after it is finished; and any prizes for which fortunate numbers are not produced within twelve months after the drawing is closed, are to be considered as given towards the fund for the University; it being determined to settle the whole business in a year from the ending of the drawing, and to take up the bonds given as security.

The real securities given for the payment of the Prizes, are held by the President and two Directors of the Bank of Columbia, and are valued at more than half the amount of the lottery.

The twenty four gentlemen who by appointment of the late Commissioners assisted in the management of the Hotel Lottery are requested to undertake this arduous task a second time on behalf of the public; a sufficient number of these having kindly accepted, it is hoped that the friends to a National University and the other federal objects may continue to favor the design.

By accounts received from the different parts of the Continent as well as from Europe, where the tickets have been sent for sale, the public are assured that the drawing will speedily commence, and that the care and caution unavoidably necessary to insure a safe disposal of the tickets, has rendered the short suspension indispensable.

SAMUEL BLODGET.

 Tickets may be had at the Bank of Columbia; of James West & Co. Baltimore; of Peter Gilman, Boston; of John Hopkins, Richmond; and of Richard Wells, Cooper's Ferry. co
